

Peter Z. Garver

Peter Z. Garver recently announced the launch of his new green development company, Sustainable Development Partnerships. In addition to development for his own account, Mr. Garver will consult with other developers to strategically position their product or companies to be green. He will do for others what he has done for Corporate Office Properties Trust (COPT).

As Vice President of Development at COPT, Mr. Garver oversaw the development group, and led the effort to position COPT as a green developer of national prominence. In his five years at COPT, he took the company from one that had little awareness of sustainability to one that counts sustainability as a core strength and has 3 LEED Gold Buildings, 3 LEED Silver Buildings, 24 additional LEED Registered buildings. The company also was winner of the NAIOP 2005 National Green Development Award and the USGBC- Baltimore 2005, 2006 and 2007 Green Leadership Awards.

Mr. Garver has spent 11 years in development management. His products have included mixed use, class A office, adaptive re-use, multi family and senior housing. He is a licensed architect, and spent 12 years practicing architecture prior to his work as a developer. He has a Master's of Architecture from the University of Virginia and a Bachelor of Science from the University of Wisconsin.