

TIMOTHY R. TROXELL, CEcD

Tim is a graduate of Frostburg State University, in Frostburg, Maryland and holds B.S. degrees in both Business Administration and Economics. Tim obtained an MBA from Hood College in Frederick, MD and is a graduate of the Economic Development Institute, based in Norman, Oklahoma. In 1999, Tim earned the professional designation of Certified Economic Developer from the International Economic Development Council.

Tim's employment background has been closely tied to the economic development sector. He began his career with an electric utility company and spent the majority of his time working in their Economic Development and Major Accounts departments. He then moved on to become Director of Business Development for a general contractor and developer that specialized in commercial and industrial construction. Tim was hired as the Assistant Director for the Hagerstown-Washington County Economic Development Commission in 1998, and became the Executive Director of the EDC in 2002.

Tim is a member of the International Economic Development Council and currently serves as President of the Maryland Economic Development Association Foundation. Tim also serves on the boards of agencies such as the Hagerstown-Washington County Chamber of Commerce, PenMar Development Corporation, Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, University System of Maryland at Hagerstown and others.